SocialCode consolidates office meals across offices

Challenge

SocialCode is in growth mode, including continued national expansion. To preserve company culture while assessing local priorities, the Office Operations team sent out an employee survey. The responses showed that the most obvious need for regional specialization was in company perks and benefits, most notably, daily meals. Even with regional differences, however, one thing remained certain—working with 3rd party partners who could provide similar services, with local twists, across all of SocialCode’s offices was a top priority.

Solution

Consolidating office catering with Zerocater across all markets made it easy to manage the office perk and create a consistent experience for all employees. For Office Catering, SocialCode works with Zerocater in all markets to choose from hundreds of the best local restaurants and private caterers for daily and weekly meals. In the San Francisco office, Zerocater Snacks and Kitchens now eliminates the need for SocialCode to plan, order, and restock their office snacks from multiple sources like Amazon, Instacart, and Google Express. Instead, it runs automatically—they receive regular replenishments of their favorite items along with a frequent rotation of new ones; all curated to their tastes and preferences by their dedicated account manager.

Results

SocialCode uses Zerocater to enjoy family-style meals and:

- Consolidate 3rd party partners to a single-provider for office meals nationally.
- Gain more variety and consistency in meals.
- Improve company culture across several national offices each with specific tastes preferences.

“I’ve gained so much working with Zerocater to manage our office meals and beverages. I now leave ordering, stocking, delivery and replenishments to the team at Zerocater. Instead of stressing about keeping the shelves full, now, I just see our Zerocater on-site specialist and say “Hi, how are you?” and walk back to my desk—it’s a lifesaver!”
